Baltimore Summer Antiques Show

August 21-24, 2014

Baltimore Convention Center, One West Pratt St., Baltimore, MD 21201

The Palm Beach Show Group (PBSG) is proud to announce that the 2014 Baltimore Summer Antiques Show, now celebrating its 34th year, will feature more than 575 international exhibitors. The show is Maryland's largest antiques event and the largest indoor antiques fair in the country. Visitors can expect to browse a high-caliber selection of furniture, American and European silver, fine art, porcelain, Americana, antique and estate jewelry, glass, textiles, and more. The expansive show includes an international book fair section as well as ArtBaltimore, a show-within-a-show that highlights galleries offering fine art and sculpture, spanning from old masters to contemporary works.

Scott Diamant, President and CEO of the PBSG, said, "Every year this show gets bigger and better... The number of dealers currently participating in the show that deal in paintings and sculpture rival all shows in the Mid-Atlantic region and the addition of ArtBaltimore will continue to grow this category into the future. Our goal for ArtBaltimore is to create an art show that will be considered by collectors as one of the best in the country."

A veteran of shows, Howard Rehs, of Rehs Galleries, Inc., has seen it all. "I exhibit at all of the Palm Beach Show Group events. I've been doing shows for over 25 years, and I can say that they are the absolute best to work with in the industry. The staff is amazing and professional, the setup is incredible, and the crowd is always great."

Rehs is also always impressed by the excellent promotion of every PBSG show. "Their outreach is incredible, ranging from TV to print to web, they cover all grounds. As a result, there is always a large crowd of active and professional buyers. The shows draw the right audience." At one of the recent Palm Beach shows, Rehs sold a Jean B.C. Corot, a Joseph Oppenheimer, a Edouard Cortes, Antoine Blanchard, Ben Bauer, Timothy Jahn and many others.
